

NIGHT BEFORE THE STRUGGLE

Three Thousand Delegates and Politicians Throng the Capital City.

WHITEHEAD THERE

Seems the Most Unconcerned of All the Candidates Present.

SLATE MAY BREAK

(By Staff Correspondent)

Madison, Wis., July 16, 12:15 a. m.—At midnight, Tuesday, it was estimated that practically all of the delegates had arrived, excepting a few who would come in on the early morning trains. They had come slowly, up to Tuesday noon, when all of the trains began to bring in large numbers. The office-seekers were nearly all established in their quarters in the capitol and in the Park Hotel by Monday night.

As soon as it became possible to approximate the number of outsiders who would be in attendance at the convention the committee at the Bureau of Information, which is located in the rotunda of the capitol, began to draw deep breaths of relief. Accommodations, largely in private houses had been provided for 5,000 guests, and the whole number expected, including both delegates and other visitors to the city at this time was in the neighborhood of 3,000.

City Crowded
This did not mean, however, that the city was not uncomfortably crowded. The hotels were first filled and to overflowing before the private houses were called upon. No increase was made in the regular rates unless the guest desired to have his room by himself. In that case he had to plunk down a bonus to save himself from the intrusion of a room mate or several of them. Cots were brought in and all available space was utilized.

Fraternity Houses
One of the University fraternity houses which during the college year comfortably accommodates from twenty to twenty-five, was made the lodging place for forty-seven men.

Earmest Talk
The Park Hotel was the general rendezvous for all forces. Stalwart and Half-breed alike. No wild commotion disturbed the place on the eve of the struggle. As the office became filled to the crowding point there was hardly any perceptible increase in the noise of conversation. The men were gathered mostly in knots of twos and threes, talking quietly, but earnestly.

Both Sides Determined
Members of both factions wore the bull-dog jaw and contracted brow of the thoughtful fighter, but the fight had not yet reached the tension of deadly earnestness. Jokes were exchanged and the man who practiced the art of affectionate massage was visible everywhere. All types were present, the corpulent, ruddy cheeked red-nosed politician of the smiling countenance and his comrade, anemic, shriveled and serious as the grave. The man who didn't seem to care and the one who felt that the responsibility of the convention rested on his shoulders.

Senator Whitehead
Prominent among them all was Senator John M. Whitehead as he moved slowly from group to group, greeting all alike with a broad smile, a hearty handshake and a local or personal remark. To the casual onlooker he would have seemed the least personally concerned of the group. Interested in the spectacle that was before him and thoroughly conversant with each detail, but outside of and above the interests that moved those to whom he talked. Of an army of masterful men he seemed the most masterful. He together with Mr. Matheson, who makes the nominating speech, were lodged at the local chapter house of the Phi Delta Theta fraternity of which he was a member when in college.

Unexpected May Happen
The general feeling expressed in the capitol hall and in the hotel office was that almost anything was to be looked for in the case of several nominations. The sentiment of the majority seemed to be that the claim of the present governor to the gubernatorial chair, of L. M. Steadant to the attorney general's seat and of Zeno M. Host to that of insurance commissioner were well-nigh indisputable. The other offices were liable to anyone of a thousand contingencies in the way of combinations, withdrawals and other possible late developments.

Machine Men Fearful
Sturdy henchmen of the governor, however, feared to predict the result if the state should be shattered at one single point. If it could be even cracked, it might be shattered to bits. There were only a few who felt sure of anything and their confidence was regarded as decidedly unwarranted by prevailing conditions.

Few Decorations
No elaborate decorations were attempted in the University gymnasium which is made use of as the convention hall. The stars and stripes were suspended here and there. At the front end of the hall a large American flag was draped above the portrait of President Roosevelt and an eagle with wings outspread surmounted all. Seats were provided in the hall for several thousand and no crowding was anticipated as Col. Helm, the assistant sergeant at arms, who was in charge of the seating had made arrangements that only those holding tickets should be admitted and the number of tickets was limited to the capacity of the hall.

Delegates' Section
The section of the house occupied by the delegates is shut off from the visitors who are seated in the rear of the hall, by a six-foot wire fence. Seats are reserved for the press representatives on the main platform and in the hanging gallery which is commonly occupied by the musicians when the hall is used for dancing purposes.

A Maze of Wires
The basement is filled with a maze of wires leading to the telegraph headquarters. This disposition was made of the operators in order that the clicking of the instruments might not add to the din of the hall. Besides the basement was as comfortable a place as could be found and the general opinion was that the operators would have the star headquarters.

Will Be Hot
However authorities might differ as to the result of the convention all were agreed last evening that unless the weather man should make some very special dispensation for the day, there would be a very hot time during the convention session, and that the hall would become a veritable oven.

Evansville, Ind., July 16.—At Cannelton, Ind., during a ball game, Arthur Derrett, umpire, shot and mortally wounded William Whallen, the pitcher. Both men lived at Owensboro.

The game was played between the Owensboro and Cannelton teams. In the last inning Whallen was at the bat and took exception to a ruling made by Derrett. After several words had passed the quarrel ceased. Whallen hit a fly and started for first base when, it is alleged, Derrett pulled his pistol and shot him twice in the back. The wounded man fell and the crowd gathered around Derrett and there were cries of "Lynch him!"

The town marshal swore in several deputies and soon Derrett was locked up in the Cannelton jail. He is about 26 years old. There is a strong feeling against Derrett, but the sheriff says he does not fear any mob violence.

HUNDREDS DIE IN AN EXPLOSION

Salt Lake Region Is Visited by a Disastrous Accident

IN A SILVER MINE

Two Carloads of Giant Powder Go Off Way Below Ground.

WAS FELT FOR MILES

Salt Lake City, July 16.—A terrific powder explosion in the Daly-West mines early this morning caused a complete cave in of the roof of the mine proper, shutting off all aid from the outside for several hours.

100 Miners
There were 100 miners in the mine when the explosion happened and it is thought that but few escaped. Twenty-seven bodies were removed from near the entrance way and it is feared that many more will be found a few feet farther on.

Explosion Unexpected
The explosion was unexpected and was due to the careless handling of giant powder that was stored in the mine proper. The accident occurred at such an early hour that all of the day force had not gone into their work and the men who were caught belonged to the night force that was coming out from their eight hour shift.

Other Mines Damaged
Noxious gases invaded other mines near the one blown up and it is feared that the miners in these were killed. The explosion was at the 12,000 foot level. Two powder magazines, containing about two cars of powder, blew up.

Felt Twelve Miles
The shock was tremendous and it was felt twelve miles away. It was so severe that a horse was knocked down at that distance and killed. Many unconscious miners have been brought to the surface. The Daly-West company is the heaviest silver producer in this section of the country.

DECIDE OLIVE GREEN THE BEST

Army Officers' Test Clothes for Uniforms and Decide on the Colors.

Washington, D. C., July 16.—(Special).—The army uniform board has been conducting some interesting experiments in an effort to determine which color is the least discernible in a cloth to be used as a uniform of soldiers in the field. Samples of woolen goods of fast colors and a variety of shades were placed at the foot of Seventeenth street, near the war department and members of the board made observations of samples at different distances up to 1,100 yards.

Test Samples
The samples were so placed as to reproduce the conditions of actual service, such as the element of dust in its effect on the obscurity of vision and the influence of scenic background. It was found, after the closest observation, that the samples which presented the least discernibility was a kind of Khaki cloth, the shade of which might be technically described as "olive mix" or olive drab.

An Olive Mix
It was found that gray, which was commonly regarded as less of a target than the most of the colors, was really quite striking, and that at a distance of 1,100 yards the gray worn at West Point turned into a darker shade than the dark blue of the present army uniform. The color which the board fixed upon, as least discernible is less visible than the English army cloth, which is described as a "gray mix." The question of invisibility or partial invisibility in the matter of army clothing is an important one, as may be easily imagined, and it became a vital question with the board which of the varieties should be adopted.

BURROWS FAVORS RIGID RULING

Would Punish Fighting Senators Severely—Talks of Bailey—The Beveridge Trouble.

Washington, D. C., July 16.—(Special).—Senator Burrows of Michigan does not believe that the senate ought to pass over the assault upon Mr. Beveridge of Indiana by Mr. Bailey of Texas. The Michigan senator takes the ground that if such assaults in the senate chamber, provoked by actions in the senate, are to go unpunished merely because the senate did not happen to be in session, there will be no way of preventing fistuffs between senators in the future.

May Lead to Trouble
Senators, he fears, will call each other liars during the debate and then punch each others' heads as soon as the bell is done ringing for adjournment. "It seems to me," said Senator Burrows, "that the senate cannot afford to ignore such an assault as that committed by Senator Bailey on Senator Beveridge. If a senator who chooses to take offense at what another senator may say in a debate has only to wait until the body has adjourned to take satisfaction by assaulting him, knowing that he will be free from officially expressed censure or punishment, it amounts to nothing short of striking at the root of freedom of expression in the senate."

Freedom of Speech
"There were certain constitutional guarantees of freedom of speech in the senate, and it seems to me that the senate can do nothing less than to investigate, through the proper committee the question of whether the assault of a senator by another for words spoken in debate is not only a serious violation of the rules of the senate but a grave infraction of a much higher law."

Field of Honor
"We can remember the day when senators were held individually responsible on the street or the field of honor for words spoken in debate, and know full well the result of the revival of that practice. While it may not be well to take the recent deplorable incident as an indication of a tendency, I certainly do not think the senate can afford to ignore it."

The fall of a brick in the Grand Central depot, Chicago, has caused a rigid examination of the building by inspectors. It is strange that the brick fell at the same time as the destruction of the St. Mark's tower in Venice, after which it was modeled.

NO COMPROMISE.

The Chicago recently issued by the republican voters of the state in the interests of the administration, indicates, in unmistakable language, that the same rule or policy that has already made him so obnoxious.

The party amounts to nothing, so far as harmony is concerned. The state amounts to nothing, so far as its regard for Senator Spooner is concerned. The primary law, according to the Stevens' program, is the all absorbing topic. The governor fails to recognize the fact that his majority, in the convention is secured by questionable methods, and that it does not represent republican sentiment throughout the state.

The element in the party that has so vigorously opposed him, will not peaceably submit to the sort of dictation outlined in the circular referred to. If the first flush of victory produces so much joy in the heart of the administration forces as to excite a spirit of defiance and arrogance, the prospect for harmony during the campaign is, not encouraging.

It is quite possible that the governor feels that he does not need the support of the men who have opposed him. His sublime egotism has led him to believe that the large republican majority secured for the ticket in 1900 was due to his personal popularity. If such is the case, his mind will be disabused in November.

While the Stalwart wing of the party is noted for loyalty, it also possesses manhood and it will not quietly submit to insult.

The campaign, in which the party about to engage, will be a political campaign. Democracy is already planning to take advantage of an enemy whose camp is divided and whose forces are weakened by internal strife. It is a poor time for the official leader of this disrupted party, to defy the men who have not agreed with him, and yet whose republicanism has never been called in question.

If the governor exercises the first elements of common sense, he will violence a spirit of conciliation. The party will live long after he is forgotten, but his immediate welfare is urged in his keeping. If he is large enough, he will meet the responsibility as a statesman should.

The regents of the State University have been putting around for nearly a year trying to decide upon some man for president of the university. They have talked and talked and reached no decision. Among the men talked of is Prof. Van Hise. He is a rare genius and one whom the world at large considers an authority in his branch of work. But better still he is popular with the students. He is well known and well liked and his selection would please the student body much better than the other Wisconsin University professor mentioned.

PRESS COMMENT

Oshkosh Northwestern: Governor La Follette may be pardoned if he mopes in his hat a copy of the old motto: "There is nothing succeeds like success." But he will also do well to remember that true greatness in politics is shown by an ability to uphold unite and harmonize all elements and the opportunity which has come to him to display this ability is indeed a rare and extraordinary one.

Merrill Advocate: Before many moons there is liable to be a bigger row among the Half Breeds than the war now between the Stalwarts and Half Breeds. La Follette and his advisers will attempt to defeat Senator Spooner and at this the better element of the governor's following will rebel.

Marinette Eagle: It remains to be seen how sincere the La Follette-Stephenson men were in their assertions that they were not opposed to Senator Spooner. There are many Spooner men among the delegates and an endorsement of some kind will be demanded, even by the delegates themselves.

Racine Journal: There was one thing lacking in the remarkable circular in the governor's interest and labeled against Senator Spooner, headed "The Battle Not Half Over," and that was that unless the executive can have his way the militia will be called out.

Milwaukee Evening Wisconsin: Nobody deems it necessary to consult the weather man as to the probable temperature of the atmosphere in Madison during the present week.

Fond du Lac Reporter: The men who have been wondering why La Follette didn't speak and what he would say when he did speak—have but to read that circular sent out from Madison Friday. It tells a story which explains itself clearly.

Milwaukee Daily News: If Gov. La Follette is not lost to all sense of gratitude, he will make heroic efforts to prevent the conventions approval of Spooner and the "throwing down" of "Uncle Ike" and his dedicated check book.

Council Bluffs Nonpareil: There's peace in the Philippines, the war in South Africa has been settled and the South American revolutions are petering out, but there's a football season coming soon.

Council Bluffs Nonpareil: Uncle Sam is planning a number of experiments on his soldiers to find out how long a man can go without a square meal. He might get considerable information among the striking miners in Pennsylvania.

Milwaukee Sentinel: They tried to give the Impassive Kitchener a warm welcome in London, but it was like trying to melt an ice-berg with a parlor match.

Milwaukee Evening Wisconsin: Delavan's reputation as a cool summer resort must rest on the theory of opposites. Five hotel fires within a year should in accordance with this theory indicate Arctic coolness.

Clintonville Tribune: If La Follette should happen to be nominated and it looks some as though he would, he will undoubtedly be elected, and the state of Wisconsin stands for another session of primary election law and unjust taxation.

Brown County Democrat: The fact that the local LaFollette delegates were elected without opposition is no indication that there are no stalwarts in De Pere. Just wait till the voters are counted in November next!

New London Republican: "Democracy," says the Milwaukee Journal, "is the hope of the people." Yes, just as the seventeen year locust is the hope of the agriculturists, horticulturists and floriculturists.

Adelaide King, in Milwaukee Sentinel: Those Janesville girls who wore bloomers at a picnic had more sense than the average female is endowed with.

Sheboygan Journal: Mrs. Nation has joined Dowle. Freaks of a feather flock together.

Madison Democrat: Not all the lights will be seen at the coronation parade. Some may be under the counter.

Marinette Eagle: When you fight fair it is no disgrace to get beat.

SELF CONTROL.

Teach it to the Child if You Want it to Succeed.

"What is the greatest thing in the world?"

"Self control."

"I thought you were going to say love. Love rules the world, but self control rules love, as indeed it rules everything else. If you want to give a man the key to success in life, give him self control; therefore, since it is the most useful thing in the world, it is one of the first things you want to teach your child. Teach him or her for it is even more important for her to be always master of the situation. Teach the child that to feel disappointment inwardly cannot always be helped, but to show it outwardly should always be avoided. This doesn't necessarily make a stoic of the child, but teaches it to enjoy the good things of life in moderation, as they are meant to be enjoyed. It teaches it that no one thing is worth staking one's entire self on or breaking one's heart over.

When it rains and little Mary stands crying before the window bewailing the fact that she can't go to the picnic, don't let her stand there and cry. That is laying the foundation for future acts of weakness when Mary is

MITCHELL CONTROLS STRIKE SITUATION

Delegates to the Miners' Convention Are Likely to Abide by Leader's Decision.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 16.—Delegates to the miners' national convention have not arrived yet in sufficient numbers to make it possible to form anything approaching an accurate forecast of the action of the convention.

From the talk of such delegates as have arrived it is evident that President Mitchell will dominate the convention completely.

Several delegates announced that they had come uninstructed regarding the vote for a national strike and were waiting to hear the opinion of the president on the matter. Others said that they had come practically instructed to take such action as President Mitchell deemed advisable.

Among the anthracite miners who have arrived there is a strong sentiment against a strike of the bituminous miners. They claim that they have one desire above all others, which is to obtain from the anthracite operators an agreement, and that a strike of the soft coal miners will not aid them in securing this.

The Origin of "Windfall."
Did you ever have a "windfall" and did you wonder why you called it so, when the wind had nothing at all to do with your good fortune? It was to do with your good fortune. It was to do with the peasants in William the Conqueror's time that an actual windfall meant good luck. They were forbidden, under severe penalty, to cut a forest tree, but whatever the wind blew down was their own; hence their greatest fortune was a heavy wind storm and its consequent "fall." And hence the name, we give our modern good luck.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Janesville Machine Co. was held on Tuesday afternoon at the company's offices. A majority of the stock was represented at the meeting either by the holders or by proxies. The outlook for the ensuing year is very encouraging and a successful season is assured.

Improvements Made
The improvements made by the company during the last year have largely increased their facilities for handling their ever growing business but even now they are often crowded for room.

Commend Management
The stockholders commended those in charge of the active business of the company for the able and careful manner in which they had performed their duties and kept the interests of the company in mind.

Election of Officers
At the election the old board of directors were re-elected with one exception of A. M. Valentine who has disposed of the larger portion of his stock in the company. L. B. Carle who is now one of the heavy stockholders was elected.

Directors Elected
The directors for the ensuing year are F. B. Farnsworth, T. O. Howe, L. B. Carle, A. P. Lovejoy, James Harris, Hiram Merrill, S. C. Cobb, David Jeffris, J. G. Rexford.

At the close of the stockholders' meeting the newly elected directors met and the following were chosen as officers of the company:

ROYAL FAREWELL FOR REV. COLLINS

DEPARTING PRIEST HONORED

Gifts Amounting to Nearly $1,000 Were Presented by Admiring Friends—Immense Reception.

Seldom has this city witnessed such a gathering as the one which met at Assembly hall last evening to say farewell to Rev. J. J. Collins, who leaves the assistant pastorate of St. Patrick's church to accept a charge at North Fond du Lac. The reception given in his honor by the people of St. Patrick's church was an eloquent tribute to the priest who has spent eight years in Janesville.

Delicious cake and ice cream were served informally during the entire evening at small tables and Rev. Collins, the guest of honor, was assisted in receiving by Dean E. M. McGinnity, Rev. W. A. Goebel, Rev. J. E. Harlan of Edgerton and Rev. Michael Condon of Oregon, the two latter gentlemen, having preceded Rev. Father Collins as assistant pastor at St. Patrick's church. The presence of Father Collins' mother and of his brother, Joseph Collins, of Gratiot, also added to the pleasure of the occasion.

Fine Musical Program
Smith's orchestra played several selections while the guests were assembling and the musical program was furnished by the orchestra and by St. Patrick's chorus choir with Miss Marie McCIernan at the piano.

Glowing Tributes Paid
There were several excellent addresses, Dean E. M. McGinnity speaking with emotion of the pleasant relations that had existed between his assistant and himself and between Father Collins and the people. Rev. W. A. Goebel presented the regrets and congratulations of St. Mary's church in an able manner, speaking a word of cordial greeting for the new assistant, Rev. James McGinnity, of Westport and voicing appreciation of the Dean's pastorate. The regret of the Jan Catholics was expressed in a terse, sincere manner by F. M. Marzluff, whose tribute to Father Collins was one of the best of the evening and the farewell address by J. J. Cunningham was an able effort. All the speakers eulogized the departing priest, congratulated him on his success and expressed the heartiest wishes for a bright future.

Elegant Gifts
The presentation of the following gifts was made by chosen representatives: Purse of over $200 from men of St. Patrick's church, by Dennis Hayes; purse of $300 from ladies of the church, Miss Margaret Dawson; $100 from Catholic Knights, Charles Viney; $100 from Knights of Columbus, Michael Hayes; purse of gold from St. Mary's congregation, Rev. Father W. A. Goebel; solid gold chalice, costing $150 from Young Ladies Sodality of St. Patrick's church, Miss Lizzie Joyce.

Father Collins Says Good-Bye
Rev. Collins was the last speaker and the emotion which had been evident all the evening almost overcame him as he tried to express his thanks, to assure his people of his constant remembrance and to bid them farewell.

The Final Parting
The audience then sang "Auld Lang Syne" following it with one verse of "God Be With You Till We Meet Again." Strong men as well as women and children were weeping and the scene which followed as the company pressed forward to press Father Collins' hand in farewell was most affecting. For each one he had a personal word.

Father Collins leaves this week for Gratiot where he will visit for a few weeks before entering upon his duties at North Fond du Lac.

WILL ACTUALLY BEGIN WORK

DATE HAS NOW BEEN SET

Work on the New Postoffice Building Will Be Started in Six Weeks' Time.

The prospects now are that the work on the new post office will begin in about six weeks and will be kept going until the building is finished, which will be at least a year after the work is started.

Philip Yager, of Danville, Ill., a member of the firm of Yager & Son, who have the contract for the erection of the building, has been in the city for the last two days for the purpose of closing contracts with local people for doing portions of the work. Mr. Yager stated that it was his intention to let as many contracts as possible to people in this city.

His idea is to give Janesville all the benefit possible from the erection of the building.

Goes to Local Firms
The contract for doing the plumbing, gas fitting and sewer building was awarded to McVicar Brothers of this city yesterday afternoon. The contract for furnishing the brick has been given to Fifield Brothers and the painting and interior work of decorating will in all probability be done by S. Hutchinson & Sons.

Not All Let
He did not let the contract for furnishing the hardware for the building as it will be at least a year before they get ready to use it and there might be a big change in the price before then.

Want No Delay
The contractors are getting everything in readiness so that there will be no delay when once the work is started. There has been a long delay already in letting the contract and Yager & Son are determined that there shall be no delay when they get the work under way.

Poor Prospects.
"Well, daughter," observed the kind father, "now that you have gone through college at an expenditure of four years and $6,000 in real money, and, as near as I can study it out, you show a net gain intellectually of being able to recite your class yell and possess a new and strange accent in your voice, I can't help but wonder what was that 'voctation in life' you said all this education was to fit you for. Were you intending to be a brakeman?"—Baltimore American.

ECZEMA

is due to the retention in the system of Uric Acid or other inflammatory poisons which find their way into the blood, and are forced by the circulation through the glands and pores of the skin, causing it to burn like fire, and the incessant itching allows no rest night or day. Eczema appears in a great many different forms, beginning frequently as a mere redness of the skin, followed by little blisters or pimples, from which a clear or straw colored matter oozes, forming into sores, scales or scabs; this is weeping Eczema, commonly called Salt Rheum. These acid poisons sometimes dry up the natural oils and the skin becomes hard and dry, often cracking and bleeding and causing intense pain and fearful itching. This form of Eczema is known as Tetter, and oftenest attacks the hands and feet. Unsightly eruptions in the shape of pimples and blackheads break out upon the face, neck and shoulders as a result of polluted blood, and this humiliating disease is called Acne. Local remedies afford but scant relief. The blood and system being saturated with the poison, the disease cannot be reached with washes, salves, powders or other local applications. S. S. S. restores the deteriorated blood to its normal condition, stimulates the sluggish organs, and all the waste matter is eliminated through the proper channels. S. S. S. makes the blood rich and strong, and under its tonic and invigorating effects the general health improves, and the skin becomes soft and smooth again.

S. S. S. contains no minerals but is guaranteed purely vegetable. Write us if you need medical advice; this will cost you nothing. Illustrated book on skin diseases sent free.

An Ironclad Ram Amuck

A FORTIETH ANNIVERSARY WAR STORY

July 15, 1862

IX weeks before the Confederate ironclad ram Arkansas took to the water, which was July 12, 1862, she was an empty hull anchored in the channel of the Yazoo river, four miles from land. Her guns and engines were lying loose on deck, the iron for her armor was sunk in the mud and water of the overflowing tides, and the bands and bolts had yet to be forged out of metal scattered over sixty miles of territory wherever it could be gathered. Even the timber for the gun carriages of the ram was still standing, thick with foliage.

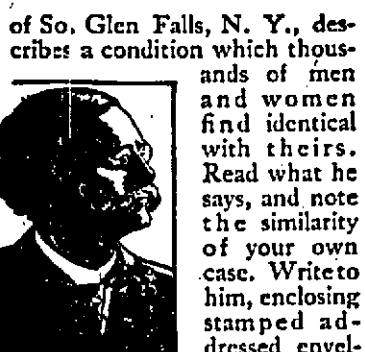

In this unfinished condition Captain Isaac N. Brown, who had been ordered to complete the monster and fight everything on the river, found his ship. Brown had served in the old United States navy, a good school for strong men. His government had given him free rein as to expense in getting the ship about in fighting trim, but to do this he must work with untrained hands and but little machinery. Though laboring under every disadvantage, with a powerful Federal fleet within six hours' steaming and the boom of hostile guns sounding in the ears of the improvised workmen, the ram was ready to weigh anchor the middle of July. True, the armor had not been put on over her stern, and for appearance's sake boiler iron was tacked on to cover up the wood. She carried ten guns, six in broadside and delet. Her companions, the wooden boats Tyler and Queen of the West, also turned away, using their stern batteries on the advancing ram. A lively chase of half an hour followed, during which time the ram, with her two sixty-four pounder bow guns, raked all the ships. The Carondelet ran into shallow water where the Arkansas couldn't follow, carrying twenty shots in her pipes, beams and principal machinery. The Tyler was hit eleven times and, with the Queen of the West, steamed rapidly away.

Brown knew that the escaping Federals would alarm the fleet in the Mississippi and crowded on full power to give chase. He had been hit in the fight, but with blood streaming down his cheeks walked the deck, animating his crew. One of the Federal shots had cut a pipe, and the steam dropped down to twenty pounds, hardly enough to turn the engines. But for this accident Brown would have been able to use the ram in the fight. Soon after the ram swung into the Mississippi it came in sight of a Federal fleet whose hulks alone seemed literally to bar the channel of the mighty river. There were ironclads superior in armor and speed to the ram, in all seven runs and ten seagoing ships of war, "300 men, 200 heavy guns and a vast squadron of ironclads, gunboats, frigates, etc., against a single Confederate vessel of ten guns and 200 men."

Without a second's delay to maneuver the Arkansas dashed into the line.

Postmaster Palmer

of So. Glen Falls, N. Y., describes a condition which thousands of men and women find identical with theirs. Read what he says, and note the similarity of your own case. Write to him, enclosing stamped addressed envelope for reply, and get a personal corroboration of what is here given. He says regarding

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure:

"I suffered agonizing pain in the left breast and between my shoulders from heart trouble. My heart would palpitate, flutter, then skip beats, until I could no longer lie in bed. Night after night I walked the floor, for to lie down would have meant sudden death. My condition seemed almost hopeless when I began taking Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, but it helped me from the first. Later I took Dr. Miles' Nervine with the Heart Cure and the effect was astonishing. I earnestly implore similar sufferers to give these remedies a trial."

COLORADO

The way to get the best accommodations is via the...

GREAT ROCK ISLAND ROUTE

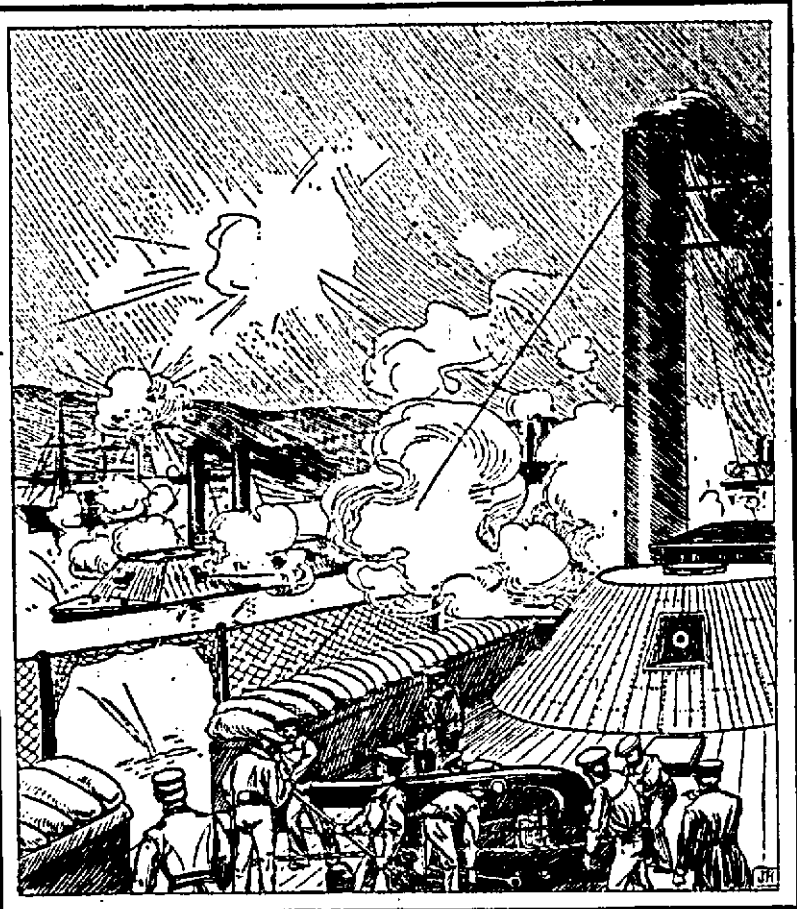

WHY? It is the only direct line to Colorado Springs and Manitou. It is the popular route to Denver. It has the best dining car service. It has the finest equipment and most satisfactory schedule, and in the ROCKY MOUNTAIN LIMITED offers the best train, only one night, Chicago to Colorado.

It leaves Chicago daily at 5:45 p.m. and arrives at Denver 8:45 p.m. Colorado Springs (Manitou) 8:30 p.m. Another inducement to use the Rock Island will be the round trip rates of $25 Chicago to Colorado and $15 Missouri River points to Colorado effective this summer by that line. "Under the Turquoise Sky" gives the most fascinating description of Colorado. "Camping in Colorado" has full details for campers.

THE ARKANSAS RUNNING THROUGH THE FEDERAL FLEET.

two fore and aft, with a crew of 100 seamen and sixty riflemen from the army. The underofficers had all graduated from the old navy, and Brown said his only trouble in handling them was to keep them from running the ram into the Federal fleet lying in the Mississippi before she was ready for battle. Brown was anxious to fight, too, but he was a faithful soldier and had been ordered by his superior to bring his ship to Vicksburg and help defend that stronghold, then beset by a powerful Federal fleet lying in the Mississippi between Vicksburg and the mouth of the Yazoo. The message which summoned the ram to Vicksburg said that there were thirty Federal ships within sight of the bluffs "and plenty more up the river." This was the prospect ahead of the ram when she set her prow in dead earnest for the anchorage of the fleets of Farragut, Davis and Eket the morning of July 14.

After a few hours' steaming Brown discovered that owing to a leak in the steam pipes the stock of powder had been wet and was unfit for use. Making a landing, the whole day passed in drying the powder by shaking it in the burning sun, and at nightfall the ram again started down the Yazoo. Brown hoped to surprise the enemy before daylight the 15th, but about 3 a. m. the ram got aground and lost an hour's time. With the rising of the sun she was steaming forward again and soon brought into view three Federal ships coming up the Yazoo. The enemy had heard of the Arkansas and her intended trip to Vicksburg.

When Brown saw what lay ahead of the ram, he called his men on deck and made a little speech, which sounded like before-the-battle buncombe. But it wasn't that.

After cheering the speech the officers stripped off their coats and the men bared themselves to the waists and bound wet cloths about their foreheads. The riflemen fixed bayonets and stood ready for boarders. Brown ordered his pilot to stand for the central vessel of the three stragglers, but before he could ruff her she put about, firing her bow guns into the ram at short range.

The ship aimed at by the Arkansas was the new ironclad gunboat Carondelet.

deluging gunboat No. 6 with shot. To the Louisville, next encountered, she gave a stinging broadside. Then the Benton, Louisville and Cincinnati were passed, the guns of the ram firing at everything within range, but not wasting a shot. Then the ram ran the gauntlet past nine of the best vessels in the Federal line—the Hartford, Ironclad, Richmond, Sumter, Onondaga, Selah, Wisconsin, Winona and Essex—every one a hero of Farragut's fight at New Orleans. Every one of the nine landed a shot somewhere on the ram. Two eleven inch shells penetrated, doing fearful execution. A shell exploded in the cotton bale lining of the ram's bulwarks, sending up a blaze and annihilating a crew of sixteen men. Some of the shots merely dented the armor of the ram. Four of the nine ships were punctured by the ram's shots. While she was engaged with them the Federal ram Lancaster tried to run her down, but the Arkansas held her up with three shots through her steam pipes.

For an hour the Federal ships chased the ram, but finally a rifle shell from the Confederate batteries at Vicksburg warned them that they had struck the dead line. The naval siege of Vicksburg was raised, and the Confederate army and the populace turned out to welcome the blood stained hero Brown and his daring crew.

The marvelous run of the single ship through an immense fleet of enemies spread consternation among the Federal commanders. What was to hinder the Arkansas from continuing down the river and recapturing New Orleans? The Essex gunboat and ram Queen of the West one night dropped past the Vicksburg guns and tried to seal the fate of the ram. But the crew was alert and sent the ships back home filled with holes. Still later, while Brown was away on sick leave, the commander of the ram tried to take her down the river to Baton Rouge, but, falling in with a powerful fleet of the enemy, he set her on fire and abandoned her. Her old foe, the Essex, poured a furious fire into her, and she exploded just as Brown, following his ship across country on horseback, came within view. The Arkansas was gone, but had vanished with her colors flying. GEORGE L. KILMER.

ELECTRICAL STORM IGNITES OIL TANKS

Bolt of Lightning Starts a Fire in the Jennings Field, Destroying Derricks.

Jennings, La., July 16.—During a heavy electrical storm that passed over the Jennings Oil field a bolt of lightning set fire to the storage tanks of the Jennings Oil company. The flames spread to the derricks adjoining and in a short time they, as well as the tanks, were destroyed.

By the time all the derricks had fallen the flames had eaten away a portion of one of the field tanks, allowing the oil to escape, and the fluid rushed in burning streams in the direction of the Coulee.

All workmen on the field immediately stopped operations and set about throwing up levees to prevent as far as possible the spread of the fire. In a short time, however, another tank had broken loose and the wind drove the flames into the derricks of the Southern, Northern and Crescent Oil companies, but they in some manner escaped destruction.

The fire is still raging and the safety of the field depends on the strength of Jennings tank No. 2. The oil is leaking around this tank and, together with the gas, is burning fiercely, sending the blaze high into the air.
